PROJECT RUNWAY 7 p.m., 11:02 p.m. on LIFE

Emmy-winning hosts Heidi Klum and Tim Gunn return for Season 16 of the reality competition series this time with a (literally) plus-size twist: This season's models range in size from 0 to 22, which means the designers will be expected to create flattering styles for women of any size within that range. In addition to Klum, Nina Garcia and Zac Posen return to the judging panel, along with such rotating guest judges as Demi Lovato, Katie Holmes, Olivia Munn and Kate Upton. (Season Premiere) (N) CC

ZOO

9 p.m. on KTVT

Jackson (James Wolk) becomes the captive of Abigail (guest star Athena Karkanis), who wants information that he has - no matter what it takes to get it - in the new episode "Stakes on a Plane." That title indicates the trouble other members of the team get into, as an electrical problem aboard their aircraft threatens their safety while they're in flight. (N) HD CC

KILLJOYS 7 p.m. on SYFY

Desperate to gain a strategic advantage, Dutch (Hannah John-Kamen) goes AWOL and risks a dangerous procedure that links her psychically to the memories of her doppelganger, Aneela. As Dutch accesses this new information, she receives some truly shocking answers to Aneela's true origin, as well as her own, in the new episode "The Wolf You Feed." Aaron Ashmore and Luke Macfarlane also star. (N)

MASTER OF THE SHADOWLESS KICK: WONG KEI-YING 9 p.m. on CINE

Originally produced by HBO Asia, this 2016 martial arts drama is set in the late days of the Qing dynasty, the last such imperial dynasty in Chinese history. During this turbulent period, a principled physician named Wong Kei-Ying (Sun Hao-ran) unwittingly is exploited by the corrupt General Wei Mo-Gik (Chen Zhi Hui). After Wong discovers the truth, he must master a fiendishly difficult martial art in order to thwart the general and protect his family. (Premiere)

WYNONNA EARP 9:01 p.m. on SYFY

A run-in with the deadly, black-clad Widows leaves Wynonna (Melanie Scrofano) and her team fighting to save one of their own in the new episode "I See a Darkness." For once, however, even their united strength may not be enough to prevail against this formidable evil. Tim Rozon, Dominique Provost-Chalkley, Shamier Anderson and Katherine Barrell also star. (N)

MARLON 8 p.m. on KXAS

With his brother Damon Wayans Sr. enjoying series success with "Le-thal Weapon," fellow "In Living Color" alum Marlon Wayans also tries weekly television again with this new sitcom loosely based on his own life. The "Pilot" introduces him as a divorced father very involved in raising his children with his ex-wife (Essence Atkins), though his guidance is sometimes questionable. Another episode follows. (Series Premiere) (N) HD CC (DVS)

BROADCHURCH 9 p.m. on BBCA

Lives in this tightly knit little community in Dorset, England, are changed, possibly forever, as the investigation by Élly, Hardy (Olivia Colman, David Tennant) and their team draws to a close in the Season 3 finale. Before that happens, however, rest assured that a number of unsettling revelations and harsh truths are going to come to light. Georgina Campbell, Lenny Henry, Deon Lee-Williams, Chris Mason, Sebastian Armesto and Jodie Whittaker also star. (Season Finale) (N)

DOUBT 7 p.m. on KTVT, KTXA

In "Running Out of Time," the first of two back-to-back episodes that end the drama's run, Sadie (Katherine Heigl) makes her closing argument on Billy's (Steven Pasquale) behalf. Keeping her mind on business is hard, given what she learns about Čarolyn (Judith Light). Then in the finale, "The Return," the jury reveals its verdict, and Billy does something that impacts Sadie and Carolyn very personally. Laverne Cox, Dule Hill and Elliott Gould also star. (N) HD CC

TURN: WASHINGTON'S SPIES

8 p.m., 9:15 p.m., 1:30 a.m. on AMC

The fate of the Culper Ring is revealed as this historical drama reaches its conclusion in the series finale "Washington's Spies." As the American War of Independence from Great Britain winds down, there's an inevitable settling of accounts between shadows and spies, even while a newborn America struggles to begin. Jamie Bell, Seth Numrich, lan Kahn, Daniel Henshall and Heather Lind star. (Series Finale) (N) CC

ORPHAN BLACK 9 p.m., 3 a.m. on BBCA

This dazzling sci-fi thriller, which earned a richly deserved Emmy for star Tatiana Maslany in what seemed to be an endless gallery of roles, reaches its suspenseful conclusion in the Season 5 finale, "To Right the Wrongs of Many." As nature takes its course, Helena (Maslany) has no choice but to take shelter behind enemy lines. That leaves her "sestra" Sarah (Maslany again) and Art (Kevin Hanchard) to do what they can to protect her. (Series Finale) (N) CC

Talk about having your reputation precede you: As is widely known, Season 4 of this series in the unscripted franchise shut down production over alleged misconduct involving two contestants, but taping eventually resumed ... thus yielding this two-part season premiere that continues Tuesday. The situation will be addressed on the show, per host Chris Harrison, as veterans of "The Bachelor" and "The Bachelorette" again seek love in Mexico. (Season Premiere) (N) ID CC

Suzette, a mother who managed to escape Colorado City, Ariz. — an infamous FLDS town - pleads with Jessica and Kollene to help her rescue the two daughters she was forced to leave behind in the new episode "Give Me Back My Daughters, Part 1." An insider of the cult divulges to them the secret location where the elder daughter is held, but the cult members start to grow suspicious as the team puts together a high-risk rescue mission. TEEN CHOICE 2017 7 p.m. on KDFW

Oh, yes, there will be surfboards ... and, as usual, they'll be presented as "trophies" to the winners of these honors, chosen by fans via online and social-media means. Among the television, movie, music and sports contests, two categories — Choice Throwback TV Show (think "Buffy the Vampire Slayer" or "One Tree Hill," both nominated) and Choice Latin Artist — are new this year. The now-ended "Pretty Little Liars" is the top TV nominee, with seven bids. (N) HD (Live) CC (DVS)

Zimmern at home on the range in 'Bizarre Foods in the Kitchen'

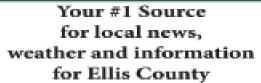

tasty tv

Through more than a decade of traveling for "Bizarre Foods" and other shows, host Andrew Zimmern has gotten to sample the exotic dishes of here and abroad. Now, he gets to demonstrate how to make some of them in a new companion web series on TravelChannel.com.

In "Bizarre Foods in the Kitchen," Zimmern takes to the stove in his Minneapolis studios to give brief and simple 2-3 minute how-tos on preparing dishes he's had during his travels, ranging from Thai coconut salmon soup and Brunswick stew to chicken fried steak and a whitefish shore lunch.

"When the network wanted to do some collateral material on TravelChannel.com," Zimmern explains, "I asked if we could do something where we cook recipes either inspired by or actually taken from the road during my trips because a lot of fans see the food and say, 'Well, where can I eat that?' And oftentimes I'm not eating in restaurants so I have to find a forum to show people how to make the food that is unavailable unless you're going to the country of origin or can bump into a chuckwagon on the cowboy trail."

One of the more interesting dishes is the Thai coconut salmon soup that he brought back from Portland, Ore., which is made from the head and collar of a whole salmon, coconut milk, galangal (a rhizome similar to ginger), kaffir lime leaves and fish sauce. Ingredients such as these may not be familiar to most viewers, but Zimmern wants to be loyal to the original recipe and he says they can be found in the Asian food section of many markets.

"As Americans, we inhale other cultures first through our mouths," he says. "We eat it before we approach their music or their dance or, sadly, their people. My hope is that by cooking these recipes people will connect with the food and then be more accepting of the different cultures, religion or skin color or language and begin to practice patience, tolerance and understanding with people around the world."

What book are you currently reading?

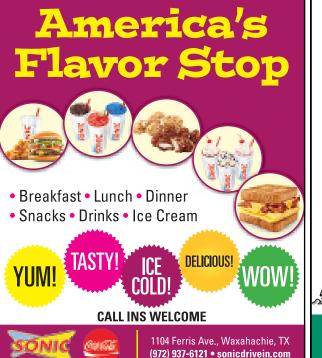

"The book that I'm reading right now is Amy Thielen's 'Give a Girl a Knife.' "

What did you have for dinner last night?

"For dinner last night I ate at Kosaka, which is a Japanese restaurant on 13th Street in Manhattan. A bunch of folks who used to work at Jewel Bako, one of my favorite restaurants in New York from decades ago, left there and opened up their own restaurant and it's just remarkable, remarkable sushi."

What is your next project?

"The next project I'm doing is I'm working on a show called 'The Zimmern List,' which airs on Travel Channel in March. I have a new book that I'm working on. I have a hospitality company. We're expanding very rapidly there. Intuitive Content, our production company, gets most of my attention. It's really taking off and we're making some really, really cool TV."
